Biography of Cameron Clapper

Cameron Clapper is the City Manager for the City of Whitewater, Wisconsin.

Cameron received his Master of Public Administration degree and a Bachelor of Arts degree in International Studies from Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, in 2005.

Cameron served as management analyst for the Village of Waunakee, Wisconsin, when he was promoted to Assistant to the Village Administrator in January 2009.

In April of 2010, he then began work with the City of Whitewater as the Assistant to the City Manager and later, Assistant City Manager. He took over as Interim City Manager from June 2012 to October 2012 when he was selected as City Manager.

Cameron lived in Mexico for two years as an LDS missionary when he was younger accelerating his love for the language and culture. He is fluent in Spanish, which has helped him to better connect with the growing Hispanic population in our community.

He loves solving problems with department staff and directors. He enjoys rewarding his employees professionally by giving them opportunities to grow.

As City Manager, Cameron oversees day-to-day operations for the various city departments including the City Clerk, Information IT, Media Services, Finance, Neighborhood Services, Parks & Recreation, Public Works, Police, Community Development, and the Library. He is also very involved within multiple groups and organizations within the community.

Cameron is originally from Plainwell, Michigan and now resides in Whitewater with his wife Michelle and their three children Jared, Afton and Caleb. Lovers of learning, Cameron and his family have grown to love Whitewater and have cherished their time living in the community.
