

The Whitewater Urban Forestry Commission

The Whitewater Urban Forestry Commission invites all Whitewater residents to participate in our first tree survey that asks for public input about the economic, social, and environmental role of trees in our city.

TREE SURVEY 2016

Tell Us About Trees in Whitewater

Whitewater, a Tree City, seeks to improve the quality of life by increasing our urban forest. Please take a good look at the trees around you. Then fill out the General Tree Survey form. Whitewater's Urban Forestry Commission advises the City Forester, the Parks and Recreation Committee, the Zoning Committee and the Council. Tell us what is important to you in streets and parks, in property development and in your own back yard. If you spot a tree that you think is especially interesting, or notable for its size and age, please tell us by also filling the Notable Trees Nomination. If you live around the edges of town or on the campus, join in. Paper forms are available at City Hall and the Irving Young Memorial Library. Please complete and return to the library desk or City Hall Neighborhood Services. The Survey and Nomination can also be completed online. Please visit:
